FREEDOM OF SPEECH IN THE

In our issue of last Sunday morn ing we gave a brief statement of how Mr. G. S. W. McCampbell, of this county, found it very uncomfortable for him to remain where he was engaged in teaching near Lexington, Mississippi. Mr. Mc-Campbell belongs to one of the oldest and most universally rehighly respected farmer who resides a few miles from Knoxville. He has read law, and just before leaving examination and was given license to practice law. He is a republican, but has been conservative, prudent, and is the last man to give needless offense to those who may differ with him. His offense in Mississippi consisted in writing letter the day after the election in November, which was published in the CHRONICLE three days afterwards, in which he told something proper authority. of the manner in which the election was conducted in Holmes county, Mississippi. He stated nothing but the truth, but so far as his treatment is concerned, he might as well have been guilty of a felony or some great cutrage. His business was broken up and he was notified that his presence would not be tolerated in that community. In short, he found that freedom of speech was there considered a crime against society.

Now we are sure that in our community no such intolerance exists. No such spirit exists in Tennessee, except perhaps, in a few isolated localities. Outside of Miss lina, there are, perhaps, few localities where it is to be found. But sissippi, Louisiana and South Caroties where it is to be found. But rare as they may be, they are injurious to the whole south. We believe that the eyes of the southern people have been opened to this fact, and that our section of the union is about to enter upon an union is about to ent prevent it. The southern people of opinion. It must be understood that a republican is as free to speak and vote in Mississippi as is a democrat in Massachusetts. Until it is otherwise the states or localities that submit to the infamous outrage of proscribing good men on account of their political expressions, might as well be enclosed with a Chinese wall so far as immigration and outside The Only True Malarial Autidote. capital is concerned. No man who prizes individual freedom, or who would prove a valuable acquisition to a community, will subject himself

This remarkable old gentleman is spending the last years of his life PEARL CHAPTER, No. 44, R. A. M.—Stated convocation upon first Monday night of each month at Hall in Masonic Temple.
S. J. Todd, Sec. W. A. Galbraith, H.P. enty-six years old and says he will never enter public life again. But he is "getting even" with a number of English notables, and has chosen a novel way to do it. He has just written a new novel entitled "Endymion," the characters in which represent those whom Beaeonsfield desires to criticise. The book has already met with a large sale, both in this country and in England. Among those whom he caricatures is Thackeray, under the character, "St. Barbe.'. The friends of Thackeray are greatly excited about it, and the friends of Dickens are not pleased. He presents, in various ways not complia mentary, a number of English noblemen and noblewomen.

Such a thing would hardly be tolerated in this country. We have Steam Sash and Blind Factory, the greatest freedom of the press, but no retiring statasman has ever felt it necessary to caricature his former rivals and associates under cover of a work of fiction. In this country men have criticised each other freely, but have used proper names. Among other things of this kind may be mentioned Gen. Joseph E. Johnson's work in which Jefferson Davis was made to appear at something of a disadvantage. And Mr. Davis is engaged on a voluminous work, in which, it is said, he will criticise some of his

HENRY WATTERSON, the gifted editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, was the author of the "tariff for revenue only" plank in the Cincinnati platform, upon which Gen. Hancock was not elected. In searching for reasons that led to democratic defeat, not a few politicians in that party have settled upon that plank as the fatal cause, and where that conclusion has been reached, some rather vigorous kicks have been made at its supposed spected families in Knox county. author. In a recent editorial in his He is the son of a prosperous and paper, the Philadelphia Times, which cordially endorsed the nominacion of Gen. Hancock, Col. Alex. McClure gives vent to his lacerated for Mississippi passed a creditable feelings and he vigorously denound ces the "surpassing idiocy" of the "tariff for revenue enly" plank in the national platform of the late democratic party. He says that Mr. Watterson was "abundantly admonished" in adhering to his pet word "only," and even intimates that the gifted Louisville editor bulldozed the platform committee and placed the fatal word there without

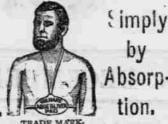

To all this Mr. Watterson replies in a lengthy editorial, made emphatic with double leads, and it rings with characteristic defiance, all of which goes to show that, although he may not have been born to command, yet he is not a good follower. He reaches the conclusion that the democratic campaign of the future will be made under "the old, bright, blue banner with its simple inscription: Free trade and sailor's rights," and intimates that those who can not sail under that flag, can go where they properly belong-to the other party.
